

UK Training Regions

Local Education Training Boards (LETBs) in England, and deaneries in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, are responsible for the education and training of health and public health workers at a regional level.

England

There are now 4 LETBs (Local Education Training Boards) in England.

North

There are three teams in the north of England:

North East, including north Cumbria -

<https://madeinheene.hee.nhs.uk/>

North West - <https://www.nwpgmd.nhs.uk/>

Yorkshire and the Humber -

<https://www.yorksandhumberdeanery.nhs.uk/>

Midlands and East

There are three teams covering the midlands and east of England:

East Midlands -

<https://www.eastmidlandsdeanery.nhs.uk/>

West Midlands -

<https://www.westmidlandsdeanery.nhs.uk/>

East of England - <https://heeoee.hee.nhs.uk/>

London

There is a single healthcare education team (HET) that covers London:

London - <https://london.hee.nhs.uk/>

South

There are five teams covering the south of England:

Kent, Surrey and Sussex - <https://www.kssdeanery.ac.uk/>

South West: Peninsula region - <http://www.peninsuladeanery.nhs.uk/>

South West: Severn region - <http://www.severn.deanery.nhs.uk/>

Thames Valley - <http://www.oxforddeanery.nhs.uk/>

Wessex - <http://www.wessexdeanery.nhs.uk/>

Scotland, Ireland, Wales

NHS Education for Scotland - <http://www.nes.scot.nhs.uk/>

Northern Ireland Medical and Dental Training Agency - <http://www.nimmdta.gov.uk/>

Wales Deanery - <https://www.walesdeanery.org/>

